Dear Mr. Givins:

The Office of Educator Quality has received your request for a substitute certificate. We have also received your fingerprint background check results, as well as information you submitted regarding your criminal history. The report that we received from the Missouri State Highway Patrol and the Federal Bureau of Investigation indicated that you plead guilty to or have been found guilty of the following offenses:

- Misdemeanor, DWI in the Circuit Court of Cole County, Missouri, Case Number CR3863521TM on September 23, 1986;
- Misdemeanor, Excessive Blood Alcohol in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 2195T04564 on September 10, 1996;
- Felony, DWI, in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 00CR001435 on September 8, 2000.

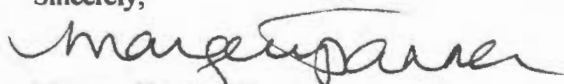

As provided by Missouri Revised Statutes 168.071, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may deny the issuance of a Missouri certificate to an individual "who has pleaded to or been found guilty of a felony or crime involving moral turpitude under the laws of this state, any other state, of the United States, or any other country, whether or not sentence is imposed."

Your request for a substitute certificate is being denied based upon your criminal history.

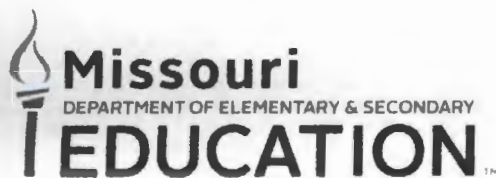

By copy of this letter, you are given notice of the decision of the Department. Enclosed you will find a copy of the administrative appeal procedures which were established by the State Board of Education.

If you have any questions regarding this decision, you may contact our office at (573) 522-8315.

RE: Certification Appeal

Dear Mr. Givins:

Your letter of appeal and supplementary material has been forwarded to me as a designee of the Commissioner of Education for review. You were denied a substitute certificate based on your criminal history, including a guilty plea or having been found guilty in 2000 of the felony charge of DWI. Missouri statute 169.071, RSMo permits denial of the issuance of a certificate for a person who has pleaded guilty to a felony or crime involving moral turpitude, whether or not sentence is imposed.

You state in your request for appeal that "traffic violations offenses are not grounds for denial of teacher certificate, pursuant MO. Revised Statute 168.071." You add that traffic offenses are not listed as offenses which constitute grounds for denial of a teaching certificate in the same cited statute.

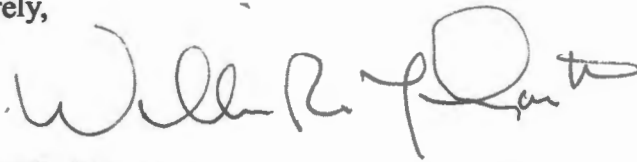

The Office of Educator Quality within the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may refuse to issue an application for a substitute certificate to teach for an individual who has pleaded to a felony, whether or not sentence is imposed, pursuant to section 168.071.1(1), RSMo. Subsection 6 of the section identifies felonies for which applicants have pleaded guilty or been found guilty and requires that their applications for a certificate of license to teach must be denied leaving no discretion to the State Board of Education or the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. These subsections are separate legal requirements.

The decision of the Office of Educator Quality to deny the certificate is upheld.

If you disagree with this decision you shall, within thirty (30) days from the date of this letter, file a written notice of appeal with the board by addressing the notice to the secretary of the State Board of Education, P.O. Box 480, Jefferson City, MO 65102-0480. In addition to stating your desire to appeal the denial of certification, the notice shall include a statement of each reason you rely upon to demonstrate support for the reversal of denial. Your appeal will be placed on the agenda of the board and you will be notified of the date, time, and place of the board meeting. The appeal will consist of a record review of the application, related materials reviewed by the designee of the Commissioner of Education, and your additional statements. You will not have the opportunity to present additional evidence or testify. You will be notified in writing of the decision of the board.

Sincerely,

CERTIFIED MAIL # 7006 0100 0005 2165 2339
SSN: [REDACTED]

Dear Mr. Givins:

The Office of Educator Quality has received your request for a substitute certificate. We have also received your fingerprint background check results, as well as information you submitted regarding your criminal history. The report that we received from the Missouri State Highway Patrol and the Federal Bureau of Investigation indicated that you plead guilty to or have been found guilty of the following offenses:

- Misdemeanor, DWI in the Circuit Court of Cole County, Missouri, Case Number CR3863521TM on September 23, 1986;
- Misdemeanor, Excessive Blood Alcohol in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 2195T04564 on September 10, 1996;
- Felony, DWI, in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 00CR001435 on September 8, 2000.

As provided by Missouri Revised Statutes 168.071, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may deny the issuance of a Missouri certificate to an individual "who has pleaded to or been found guilty of a felony or crime involving moral turpitude under the laws of this state, any other state, of the United States, or any other country, whether or not sentence is imposed."

Your request for a substitute certificate is being denied based upon your criminal history.

By copy of this letter, you are given notice of the decision of the Department. Enclosed you will find a copy of the administrative appeal procedures which were established by the State Board of Education.

If you have any questions regarding this decision, you may contact our office at (573) 522-8315.

Sincerely,

RE: Certification Appeal

Dear Mr. Givins:

Your letter of appeal and supplementary material has been forwarded to me as a designee of the Commissioner of Education for review. You were denied a substitute certificate based on your criminal history, including a guilty plea or having been found guilty in 2000 of the felony charge of DWI. Missouri statute 169.071, RSMo permits denial of the issuance of a certificate for a person who has pleaded guilty to a felony or crime involving moral turpitude, whether or not sentence is imposed.

You state in your request for appeal that "traffic violations offenses are not grounds for denial of teacher certificate, pursuant MO. Revised Statute 168.071." You add that traffic offenses are not listed as offenses which constitute grounds for denial of a teaching certificate in the same cited statute.

The Office of Educator Quality within the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may refuse to issue an application for a substitute certificate to teach for an individual who has pleaded to a felony, whether or not sentence is imposed, pursuant to section 168.071.1(1), RSMo. Subsection 6 of the section identifies felonies for which applicants have pleaded guilty or been found guilty and requires that their applications for a certificate of license to teach must be denied leaving no discretion to the State Board of Education or the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. These subsections are separate legal requirements.

The decision of the Office of Educator Quality to deny the certificate is upheld.

If you disagree with this decision you shall, within thirty (30) days from the date of this letter, file a written notice of appeal with the board by addressing the notice to the secretary of the State Board of Education, P.O. Box 480, Jefferson City, MO 65102-0480. In addition to stating your Section 210.922, RSMo (Supp. 2006), allows the Department to use information contained in the Family Care Safety Registry to carry out its statutory duties.

A review of the Family Care Safety Registry demonstrated that the presence of Abe Givins at your home may have violated the above listed regulation. We have reviewed the additional information supplied to this Section on behalf of Abe Givins. RE: Certification Appeal

Dear Mr. Givins:

Your letter of appeal and supplementary material has been forwarded to me as a designee of the Commissioner of Education for review. You were denied a substitute certificate based on your criminal history, including a guilty plea or having been found guilty in 2000 of the felony charge of DWI. Missouri statute 169.071, RSMo permits denial of the issuance of a certificate for a person who has pleaded guilty to a felony or crime involving moral turpitude, whether or not sentence is imposed.

You state in your request for appeal that “traffic violations offenses are not grounds for denial of teacher certificate, pursuant MO. Revised Statute 168.071.” You add that traffic offenses are not listed as offenses which constitute grounds for denial of a teaching certificate in the same cited statute.

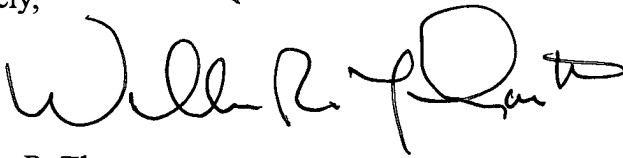

The Office of Educator Quality within the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may refuse to issue an application for a substitute certificate to teach for an individual who has pleaded to a felony, whether or not sentence is imposed, pursuant to section 168.071.1(1), RSMo. Subsection 6 of the section identifies felonies for which applicants have pleaded guilty or been found guilty and requires that their applications for a certificate of license to teach must be denied leaving no discretion to the State Board of Education or the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. These subsections are separate legal requirements.

The decision of the Office of Educator Quality to deny the certificate is upheld.

If you disagree with this decision you shall, within thirty (30) days from the date of this letter, file a written notice of appeal with the board by addressing the notice to the secretary of the State Board of Education, P.O. Box 480, Jefferson City, MO 65102-0480. In addition to stating your desire to appeal the denial of certification, the notice shall include a statement of each reason you rely upon to demonstrate support for the reversal of denial. Your appeal will be placed on the agenda of the board and you will be notified of the date, time, and place of the board meeting. The appeal will consist of a record review of the application, related materials reviewed by the designee of the Commissioner of Education, and your additional statements. You will not have the opportunity to present additional evidence or testify. You will be notified in writing of the decision of the board.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Givins:

The Office of Educator Quality has received your request for a substitute certificate. We have also received your fingerprint background check results, as well as information you submitted regarding your criminal history. The report that we received from the Missouri State Highway Patrol and the Federal Bureau of Investigation indicated that you plead guilty to or have been found guilty of the following offenses:

- Misdemeanor, Excessive Blood Alcohol in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 2195T04564 on September 10, 1996;
- Felony, DWI, in the Circuit Court of Clayton, Missouri, Case Number 00CR001435 on September 8, 2000.

As provided by Missouri Revised Statutes 168.071, the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education may deny the issuance of a Missouri certificate to an individual “who has pleaded to or been found guilty of a felony or crime involving moral turpitude under the laws of this state, any other state, of the United States, or any other country, whether or not sentence is imposed.”

Your request for a substitute certificate is being denied based upon your criminal history.

By copy of this letter, you are given notice of the decision of the Department. Enclosed you will find a copy of the administrative appeal procedures which were established by the State Board of Education.

Dear Ms. Givins:

The Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS), through its Section for Child Care Regulation (SCCR), is responsible for establishing the "standards of service and care to be rendered" by licensed child care providers. Regulations state any person present...during the hours in which child care is provided "shall not present a threat to the health, safety or welfare of the children." [19 CSR 30-61.115(5) or 19 CSR 30-62-102(1)(M)] Section 210.922, RSMo (Supp. 2006), allows the DHSS to use the information contained in the Family Care Safety Registry (FCSR) to carry out its statutory duties.

SCCR performed a review of the findings provided by FCSR and recommend that the Background Screening Review for this applicant be approved. Please note this decision is specific to your facility. The ultimate decision to hire or retain this individual is at your discretion. You will assume the burden of risk and should use due diligence in making hiring decisions.

Dear Ms. Givins:

The Department of Health and Senior Services (Department), through the Section for Child Care Regulation (Section) is responsible for establishing the "standards of service and care to be rendered" by licensed child care providers. 8. The certificate holder whose certificate was revoked pursuant to subsection 6 of this section may appeal such revocation to the state board of education. Notice of this appeal must be received by the commissioner of education within ninety days of notice of revocation pursuant to this subsection. Upon notice of the certificate holder's intent to appeal, an appeal hearing shall be held by a hearing officer designated by the commissioner of education, with the final decision made by the state board of education, based upon the record of that hearing. The certificate holder shall be given not less than thirty days' notice of the hearing, and an opportunity to be heard by the hearing officer, together with witnesses.

Employer Use of Arrest and Conviction Records in Missouri

Missouri and federal law put some limits on an employer's use of criminal records.

Are you one of the estimated one in four Americans with a criminal record? If so, you might find job hunting difficult. Surveys show that a majority of employers – a whopping 92%, according to one survey – perform criminal background checks when hiring, at least for certain positions. If a check of your background reveals arrests or convictions, you might find it tough to compete in the job market.

There are some legal protections for job seekers with criminal records. Federal law and the laws of many states place some limits on how employers can use these records in making job decisions.

Federal Protections

Two federal laws provide limited protection to applicants with criminal records.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act: Inaccurate Records

The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) addresses the issue of accuracy. Reports created by criminal background check firms may include errors, such as incomplete information (for example, failing to report that the person was exonerated of a crime or that charges were dropped), information on convictions that have been expunged, misclassification of crimes, multiple listings of the same offense, and even records that belong to another person with the same name.

The FCRA imposes responsibilities both on employers who request criminal background checks and on the firms that provide them. Employers must do all of the following:

- Get the applicant's written consent before requesting a check.
- Tell the applicant if the employer plans to screen him or her out based on the contents of the report. In this situation, the employer must also give the applicant a copy of the report.
- Give notice to the applicant once the employer makes a final decision not to consider the applicant based on the report.

The firms that provide background checks must take reasonable steps to make sure that the information they provide is current and accurate. If you dispute what's in the report, the agency must conduct a reasonable investigation. If the investigation reveals that the report was incorrect, the agency must inform you and any other person or company to whom it has provided the report.

Title VII: Discrimination Based on Criminal Records

Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 protects applicants and employees from discrimination in every aspect of employment, including screening practices and hiring. Because arrest and incarceration rates are so much higher for African Americans and Latinos, an employer that adopts a blanket policy of excluding all applicants with a criminal record might be guilty of race discrimination.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) has issued guidance for employers, explaining how they can screen out applicants who criminal records pose an unreasonable risk without discriminating. Employers who conduct criminal background checks must consider the type of offense, how serious it was, how long ago it was committed, and the nature of the job (including how much supervision the employee will have and how much the employee will be required to interact with others) in deciding whether a particular offense is disqualifying. And, the EEOC has said that employers should give applicants with a record an opportunity to explain the circumstances and provide mitigating information showing that the employee should not be excluded based on the offense.

Missouri Law on Use of Criminal Records

Some states have passed laws restricting how employers may use an applicant's criminal record in making job decisions. Some states prohibit employers from considering older offenses. Some states prohibit employers from asking about arrest records or records that have been sealed or expunged. Some states require employers to consider whether the offense bears a reasonable relationship to the job. And, some states provide guidance to employers on what they should and should not ask about criminal records in interviews.

Missouri has no law that specifically restricts employer use of criminal records. However, the state does prohibit discrimination in professional or occupational licensing. No one may be denied a license for a profession or occupation primarily on the basis that a prior conviction negates that person's good moral character, if the applicant has been released from incarceration by pardon, parole, or otherwise, or the applicant is on probation with no evidence of violations. The conviction may be considered, but the licensing board must also consider the crime's relation to the license, the date of conviction, the applicant's conduct since the conviction, and other evidence of the applicant's character in making a decision.

Dear Ms. Givins:

The Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS), through its Section for Child Care Regulation (SCCR), is responsible for establishing the "standards of service and care to be rendered" by licensed child care providers. Regulations state any person present...during the hours in which child care is provided "shall not present a threat to the health, safety or welfare of the children." [19 CSR 30-61.115(5) or 19 CSR 30-62-102(1)(M)] Section 210.922, RSMo (Supp. 2006), allows the DHSS to use the information contained in the Family Care Safety Registry (FCSR) to carry out its statutory duties.

SCCR performed a review of the findings provided by FCSR and recommend that the Background Screening Review for this applicant be approved. Please note this decision is specific to your facility. The ultimate decision to hire or retain this individual is at your discretion. You will assume the burden of risk and should use due diligence in making hiring decisions.

If you have any questions, please contact your child care facility specialist at 314/877-0210, or Operator 19 at the FCSR using the toll-free number 1-866-422-6872.
